

40303 Student Class Attendance and Participation

The College places primary emphasis on the knowledge and competencies acquired by students. A close relationship frequently exists between regular attendance and successful learning. Students who are enrolled in courses requiring a certain amount of time in laboratory and/or clinical instruction will be expected to abide by the attendance requirements determined by the instructor.

The College desires that every student have successful learning experiences. To increase the likelihood of success, students should fully participate in instructional activities.

(Adopted 12/18/84; Amended 2/25/14)