TeamMates, MCC partner to impact youth

OMAHA, Neb. — Metropolitan Community College and the TeamMates Mentoring Program have partnered to support area youth and their aspirations of furthering their education by offering two full-tuition scholarships. The scholarships are open to all mentees and will cover all tuition and fees up to eight quarters at MCC.

“As a TeamMates mentor and an MCC employee, I have experienced the impact both organizations have on our community,” said Tracy McTavish-Mlady, institutional effectiveness coordinator at MCC. “The partnership is a natural fit and the MCC scholarships are a wonderful way to give young people support as they pursue their goals at a postsecondary school.”

Scholarship applicants must have a minimum of two years in the TeamMates program. The new scholarships join the growing list of scholarships offered through the TeamMates central office.

Founded by Tom and Nancy Osborne, TeamMates works to positively impact youth and encourage them to reach their full potential. TeamMates currently has more than 7,000 youth in 117 communities across Nebraska, Iowa and California.
