Area residents get opportunity to raise skills

FREMONT, Neb. — Metropolitan Community College is giving area residents a chance to build their résumé with a Microsoft Excel Level 1 noncredit course being offered at the Fremont Area Center, northwest corner of 9th and Broad streets.

The course covers the basics of Excel 2010. Participants learn how to navigate the program as well as enter, edit, find and replace information. The course also includes working with formulas and performing basic functions for creating charts and formatting.

“The Excel 2010 course offered at the Fremont Area Center is a good opportunity if you’re looking to improve your soft skills for your résumé or brush up on your knowledge,” said Todd Hansen, executive director at the Fremont Area Center.

The course runs August 7–21 on Thursdays 6–9 p.m. Books for the class are available for purchase for $20. Call 402-457-5231 or visit mccneb.edu/ce to sign up today. Deadline for registration is Aug. 1.
