Great Plains Theatre Conference announces Call for Plays

OMAHA, Neb. — Metropolitan Community College's Great Plains Theatre Conference has announced its 2015 Call for Plays. Now through Oct. 15, scripts will be accepted online at mccneb.edu/gptc. The 2015 GPTC will be held May 23–30.

Now in its 10th year, GPTC offers playwrights a week-long opportunity to connect and discover what colleagues are doing from across the country and further develop their craft in a supportive, encouraging environment. During the conference, local actors read 30 PlayLab and MainStage readings of the chosen plays, and each playwright receives feedback from GPTC guest artists, fellow playwrights and the general public. Playwrights also have the opportunity to work with a director and a dramaturg in a setting that inspires creativity.

The conference is held each year at MCC's historic Fort Omaha Campus, 30th and Fort streets. Past guest artists include nationally known and critically acclaimed playwrights, such as Constance Congdon, David Lindsay-Abaire, Rebecca Gilman, Kira Obolensky, Doug Wright, Kia Corthron and Erik Ehn.

All conference readings are free and open to the public.

For submission guidelines and more information about the Call for Plays, visit mccneb.edu/gptc, call 402-457-2618 or email theatreconference@mccneb.edu.
