

Access Research Databases from home

Metropolitan Community College's libraries subscribe to 30+ databases containing full-text articles from thousands of magazines, newspapers, academic journals, and encyclopedias. These databases cover a wide range of topics: business, careers, computer science, criminal justice, current events, education, health and medicine, horticulture, management, psychology, science, social issues, sociology, vocational/technical trades, and more.

To access research databases from home, you must be a currently enrolled MCC student, faculty, or staff member and you must know your MCC username and password.

1. Go to the Library's webpage: www.mccneb.edu/library
2. Click on the Databases box
3. Use the Title menu to select a database
4. Enter your username and password:
 - Enter the same username/password you use to access MyWay, Blackboard, student e-mail, or log on to a MCC computer.
 - If you don't know your username/password, go to the Password Station website: www.mccneb.edu/Password-Station
5. Click Login
